Fre One of the features that Android users with the second version of the OS need is the ability to create free Wi-Fi hotspots. With this in mind, a new Android application called Wi-Fi Factory has been released. Although the name of the application suggests that it allows users to create free Wi-Fi hotspots, the reality is that it is not a free version of the Open Hotspot application, but a standalone app which allows users to easily create and customize free hotspots. Since Wi-Fi Factory also offers the possibility to create Wi-Fi networks that can be used by several devices, a tool to get a free Wi-Fi network is very important. This is the reason why the application comes with a guide to teach users how to get a free Wi-Fi hotspot that they can use across several devices. Wi-Fi Factory Features: As we said before, the main aim of this new Android application is to help users create Wi-Fi hotspots and networks. Among these features, we can highlight: • Create Free Wi-Fi networks Although the app can be used as an alternative to the free version of the Open Hotspot application, it is not a copy. In order to do that, it includes the ability to build a custom Wi-Fi network that can be used by multiple devices simultaneously. • Easy user interface Since Wi-Fi Factory does not include any pre-configured hotspots, every user needs to create a new hotspot. However, the task is easy and intuitive thanks to the intuitive interface. • Configure Wi-Fi networks The app gives users the possibility to configure the Wi-Fi parameters, such as the password and security mode. • Configure mobile data Since Wi-Fi Factory includes the option to create mobile data-only Wi-Fi hotspots, every user can choose between multiple connection types (Mobile Networks, Wi-Fi Networks, 3G or 4G). Wi-Fi Factory Supported Devices: Obviously, Wi-Fi Factory can be used on all Android devices with the second version of the OS. In addition, it can be used on the Nexus S, the Nexus 7, the HTC One, and several others. Wi-Fi Factory Requirements: Wi-Fi Factory is not a free application, and it is intended for advanced users. To use this application, users need to have minimum Android 2.2 (Froyo). In addition, it is necessary to have root access
